In the name of Allah, the All-Compassionate, the All-Merciful. O Allah I present to You in front of every breath, every second, every instant, every thought, every blinking of the eye of the peoples of the heavens and the earth, and everything which is existent in Your knowledge or was existent, I present to You in front of all of this¹:

La ilaha illa'llah the number of nights and ages, the number of days and months, the number of waves in the oceans, the multiplication of rewards, the number of raindrops, the number of leaves on the trees,

the amount of hair and fur, the amount of sand and rocks,

the number of flowers and fruits, the number of breaths of mankind, the number of our sins so that they are forgiven, the number of blinking of eyes, the amount of that which has been and that which will be, La ilaha illa'llah exalted is He above that which people worship alongside Him

La ilaha illa'llah (this is) better than that which they amass (of the dunya), La ilaha illa'llah in the night when it darkens,

La ilaha illa'llah in the morning when it breathes, La ilaha illa'llah the number of winds that blow in the desert and the number of rocks,

La ilaha illa'llah from this day to the day on which the Trumpet is blown, La ilaha illa'llah the number of His entire creation

From this day to the Day of Recompense

This is to be read ten times and at the end finish with:

In every instant forever equal to the number of His created things, to His satisfaction, to the weight of His throne and the amount of ink used by His words.

To be recited: X10

¹ What is meant by this is: "I present this as a defence from the evil of any of the things mentioned and seeking all the good that is contained in them," and Allah knows best. This is only read at the beginning of the dhikr, what is after it is to be read ten times. The author of Kanz al-Najah w'al-Surur mentions that some of these adhkar have a chain of narration going back to the Prophet (peace and blessings upon him)

This is also to be read ten times:

اللَّهُمَّ صَلِّ عَلَى سَيِّدِنَا مُحَمَّدٍ مَا اتَّصَلَتِ الْعُيُونُ بِالنَّظَرِ ● وَتَزَحَّرَتِ
الأَرْضُونَ بِالمَطَرِ ● وَحَجَّ حَاجٌّ وَاعْتَمَرَ ● وَلَبَّى وَحَلَقَ وَنَحَرَ ● وَطَافَ
بِالبَيْتِ العَتِيقِ وَقَبَّلَ الحُجْرَ ● وَعَلَى آلِهِ وَصَحْبِهِ وَسَلِّمْ
فِي كُلِّ لِحْظَةٍ أَبَدًا مِثْلَ ذَلِكَ ● عَدَدَ خَلْقِكَ ● وَرِضَى نَفْسِكَ ● وَزِنَةَ
عَرْشِكَ ● وَمِدَادِ كَلِمَاتِكَ

O Allah send blessings upon our Master Muhammad as much as the eyes see, as much as the earth becomes verdant after rainfall, the number of people making Hajj and Umra, making the *talbiya*², shaving their heads, making tawaf around the Ancient House and kissing the Stone and upon his family and companions In every instant forever the number of Your creation, to Your satisfaction, the weight of Your throne and the amount of ink of Your words.

² Saying “labbayk Allahumma labbayk” etc
